

Bio Stavros Tripakis

Stavros Tripakis is a Full Professor at Aalto University, transitioning into an Associate Professor post at Northeastern University. He received a Ph.D. Degree in Computer Science in 1998 at the Verimag Laboratory, Joseph Fourier University, Grenoble, France. He was a Postdoc at UC Berkeley from 1999 to 2001, a CNRS Research Scientist at Verimag from 2001 to 2006, a Research Scientist at Cadence Research Labs, Berkeley, from 2006 to 2008, and an Adjunct Associate Professor at the University of California, Berkeley until 2017. His research interests include cyber-physical systems, computer-aided verification, and the foundations of software and system design. Dr. Tripakis was co-Chair of the 10th ACM & IEEE Conference on Embedded Software (EMSOFT 2010), and Secretary/Treasurer (2009-2011) and Vice-Chair (2011-2013) of ACM SIGBED. His h-index is 46.